

Did you know you can make a year-end contribution to Aikido of SLO as a tax-deductible donation? That's because Aikido is a program of Safe-SLO Nonprofit, a 501(c)(3) charitable organization.

All of us who teach Aikido classes donate our time as volunteers.

We need your help in order to continue providing education and a place for children and adults to learn powerful yet peace-oriented responses to conflict, aggression, or violence.

You may know that student tuitions pay a large portion of our school's facility and operation costs. But did you know that each year we need to fundraise at least $10,000 for the remainder? For this, we rely on charitable contributions.

Please consider making a year-end donation to support our mission. Ask friends, family members, or business owners to consider us for their year-end tax-deductible contributions.

On behalf of the teachers and leaders of our Aikido programs, thank you for helping us continue to provide education and a place for children and adults to learn powerful peace-oriented responses to conflict, aggression, and violence.

YES I support Aikido of SLO's mission to provide peace-oriented responses to aggression and violence in our community in 2009.
